

The Purpose of Life

There is only time.

You are born, you have time, and then you die.

What you have is based on where you spend your time. Your “wants” are where you have not spent time.

To obtain your “wants”, you must spend your time or someone else must spend their time for you.

The Purpose of Life is:

- To do work you love to earn money;
- To have a comfortable lifestyle;
- To have free time to spend with those you love;
- Doing what you love.
